AGAWAM JR WOMEN March for Membership

The Mass. State Federation of Jr. Women's Clubs has asked that a "March for Membership" be held by the Ag. Jr. W.'s Club during the week of March 2nd to 9th.

Mrs. Herbert A. Carpenter, pres. would like to extend a personal invitation to any young woman of Agawam, under 35 who would care to become an active participant in local and state wide projects for civic and cultural advancement to contact her or Mrs. Arthur H. Jarvis, first V.P. for info concerning membership.

Jones was sitting with his wife behind a palm on a hotel veranda late one night when a young man and a girl came and sat down on a bench near them.

Hidden behind the palm, Mrs. Jones whispered to her husband: "Oh, John, he doesn't know we're here and he's going to propose. Whistle to warn him."

"What for?" said Jones.

"Nobody whistled to warn me."

No Compliment
A fat lady stepped on the scales, not knowing they were out of order. The indicator stopped at 75 pounds.

"Holy smoke," exclaimed a drunk who watched her. "She's hollow!"

TOWN MEETING TIME

V. R. Moreno

With the election of some 65 brand new town meeting members this coming town meeting should prove interesting. I worked quite hard to establish the formula that required the new members to attend separate meetings before the town meeting so that they could be informed on the requirements of their duty, as all legislative bodies do. Since they will be attending their first meeting without instruction it is hoped that they will be sound in their judgment of the issues.

It must be remembered that town meeting members are legislators and as such may find themselves confronted with issues that may infringe on constitutional rights of the people. A perfect example that might be used as a "for instance" is Article 50 which states: to delete "a dwelling house of not more than four families", which can be presently built on a "Residence B" zoned lot.

This is not a legitimate use of the "police power" of the town. They can make more stringent rules surrounding the house, but the town has no legal power to take this right away from the last owner. The town, for instance, can make by-laws requiring larger lots, set backs, side yards, heights, etc., but it has no right to tell a land owner he can not build a 4 family house. Actually it is no different from telling a land owner that he shall not build a one family house.

All the recommendations by the planning board, by statute, dictate that all their decisions must be based on: does it impair the health, welfare or safety of the community. Does it?

TAXPAYERS' FOUNDATION CALLS FOR CUT TAXES

Calling for a cut of "a minimum of $23 million" in Gov. Sargent's proposed $143 million of new taxes to balance the record breaking $1½ million budget, Frank J. Zeo, Exec. V.P. of the Mass. Taxpayers Foundation, told a Leg. Comm. on Taxation today that the Bay State's "taxpaying citizens are aroused as perhaps never before in the Mass. history over rising taxes and soaring spending."

Zeo made a series of specific recommendations providing for a reduced tax program of approximately $120 million.

With the provisos calling for cuts -- and various other money saving recommendations and conditions -- Zeo recorded the Taxpayers Foundation as generally in favor of House Bill 4628, embodying the Governor's tax proposals.

He suggested that "less emphasis be placed on the overworked income tax than is proposed in House 4628," and called for a reduction in income taxes.

"Under the bill," Zeo pointed out, "$93 million or 65% of the proposed additional taxes would be derived from the personal income tax."

The MTF proposal would cut this figure by more than half.

these instruments being put on the same part. The Ag. High production orchestra will find 3 students on most of the reedparts. Playing flute are: Paula Neiroda, Robert Gagnon, and Roberta Bonomi; (clarinets) Diana Ciborowski, Loretta Bonomi, Kathy Keefe, Carol Gillan, Mancy Carpenter; (sax) - Harold Ellis, Edward ARdizoni Peter Kinsley, Robert Gagnon, Kenneth Wilson; oboe - Loretta Bonomi; bassoon - Ann Marie Carey; accordion - Kenneth Goodwin, David Perusse; violins - Laurie Ryer Kenneth Wilson; French horn - Thoda Rogal, Tina Massa; percussion - Robert Gosselin, David Huba; trumpet - Gary Toezko David Boldebook, Dennis Malley; trombone - Donald Cabra.

'The Killing of Sister George', ANTA production

The next production of the West-ern Mass Chapter of ANTA (American National Theatre and Academy) should hold great interest for all theatre-goers, since it is the controversial comedy drama, "The Killing of Sister George," a London and Broadway hit which is recommended for mature audiences only.

The movie version of Frank Marcus's "blockbuster" was extensively analyzed in a Life article, which promoted much discussion and further analysis among theatre buffs.

The ANTA company's production of this unusual and thought provoking play will be staged by well-known director-actor Waldo Goodermote, with a cast of experienced ANTA players: Betty Williams as Sister George, Mary Sheehan as Alice, Miriam Keating as Mrs. Mercy, and Audrey Sever as Madame Zenia.

Produced by Althea Durfee, "The Killing of Sister George" is scheduled for Fri. through Sun., March 14-16, at 8:30 P.M. in the Springfield Coll. Beveridge Cr. located on Alden St.

Nature in Concert Mar.12

The active volunteers at Wachusett Meadows, Princeton's Mass Audubon Society Wildlife Sanctuary, have donated some of the funds they earned at their popular annual summer Hey Day to give area residents a real treat -- a showing of Les Campbell's unique audio visual concert "Nature in Concert". Campbell, an award-winning photographer well known in New England, will present his show Wed., March 12 at 7:30 P.M. in Holden's Wachusett Regional High School on Main Street.

Using 6 projectors with intricate dissolve and focus techniques, a specially selected sound track, his own on-the-spot narration, and specially designed equipment, Campbell presents spectacular nature photographs taken by himself and the talented amateur photography group, The Mass Camera Naturalists. The photographs, accompanied by appropriate musical selections, range from minute close-ups to dramatic sight-and-sound poems on the lands itself. The effect inspirational, breathtaking, at times gently humorous, is as memorable as the electronics involved are impressive.

Audubon members are especially invited to this fascinating evening -- and everyone is welcome.

The Agawam United Methodist Church will have a public smorgasbord at the Church Sat. Mar.1 sittings, 5:15 & 6:30 res. Mrs. R. Fearn - 739 5965 or Mrs. G. Houts - 737 8595

NIH RESEARCH FOR HEALTH

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
BETHESDA, MARYLAND

Dizziness

Most people have felt dizzy at some time in their life. A simple cause, such as looking down from a tall building or getting up too fast after lying in bed could explain this sensation. However, when the spells occur repeatedly and without an apparent cause, a person is wise to see his doctor.

The sense of balance, which is disturbed when a person feels dizzy, results from a combination of information coming to the brain through the inner ear, the eyes, and the muscle's sense of position. Older people, particularly, should change positions slowly, especially from lying down or sitting to standing or walking. This allows time for the inner ear balance system and the blood circulation to adjust to this change without dizziness.

Inner ear problems account for about 85 percent of dizziness complaints. Many victims of dizziness are diagnosed and treated by their physicians for a mild infection of the inner ear. Often, an antibiotic is prescribed and the dizziness disappears in a few days as the infection clears up. Sometimes, however, the cause is more complicated and treatment more extensive. In some cases the patient may be sent to an ear specialist (otolaryngologist).

The remaining 15 percent of patients may suffer from aging of the blood vessels or arteriosclerosis, a sensitivity to drugs, and injury to the ear, a tumor pressing on the balance nerve, or other nerve disorders.

One of the commonest inner ear ailments was discovered only 100 years ago and is called Meniere's disease. It is a combination of three symptoms: ringing in the ears, dizziness, and loss of hearing in the affected ear. The disease can be very bothersome since attacks may recur several times a year—although they may disappear entirely in time. Emotional stress and even certain foods may help cause these attacks. The disease often begins with a feeling of fullness or pressure in the affected ear, followed by dizziness. This may be complicated by temporary hearing loss and nausea. Diagnosis and treatment by a physician are important and may include medication to stop the dizziness and prevent excess fluid in the inner ear. Treatment is important since the attacks can make work or driving unpleasant or even dangerous, and the temporary hearing loss could become permanent nerve deafness.

Research now being conducted and supported by the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness (NINDB), a component of the National Institutes of Health, seeks to help those affected with dizziness. Because both dizziness and nerve deafness involve the inner ear, many research projects and programs on deafness also are concerned with the cause, prevention, and treatment of dizziness.

More than 40 bone bank laboratories are located in cities throughout the United States. These laboratories offer those with a medical history of deafness or dizziness a chance to contribute after death to research on ear disorders. These people may bequeath their inner ears to a bone bank to be used in research studies. Grants from NINDB aided in establishing the bone banks and support the research conducted there.

In addition, the Institute supports five major clinical research programs. In these medical centers, an intensive and varied program of research involves the ear. Basic and clinical research studies are aimed at discovering the fundamental nature of dizziness and nerve deafness.

STATE PROMISES ACTION ON RTE 57

State Dep't of Public Works Commissioner Edward J. Ribbs today assured Rep. Walter T. Kerr of Agawam that the DPW will proceed with the necessary engineering to extend the relocation of Route 57 west of Mill St. in Agawam.

In a meeting in Boston attended by DPW Assoc. Comm. Charles A. Bisbee, Jr., of Chesterfield and Dep. Chief Engineer Charles E. Whitcomb, Rep. Kerr was briefed on the current planning status and future plans for the route.

Ribbs said that the new highway will be planned as a controlled access twin-roadway divided highway. When plans are sufficiently developed a public hearing will be held in Agawam.

POLICE RECEIVE CRIMINAL LAW HANDBOOK

The 1st criminal procedure handbook geared to the on-the-job needs of the police officer was sent today to every policeman in Mass. by the Committee on Law Enforcement and Administration of Criminal Justice, according to Sheldon Krantz, the Committee's exec. Director.

The pocket-sized Enforcing The Criminal Law, prepared by the Criminal Div. of the Att'y Gen's office, states and interprets the State's laws and procedures for arrest search and seizure, and procedure after arrest.

"The police officer must make the crucial decisions in seconds with little information at his disposal, while a court has volumes of criminal law and often months to judge these decisions."

"A convenient criminal law guide dealing with typical situations faced daily by the officer could help strengthen his response to crime and delinquency while alleviating some the pressure," Krantz added.

The Sears-Roebuck Foundation has funded the initial printing of 30,000 copies of the handbook which covers the State's 15,000 policemen.

The 44-page handbook includes such sections as: "requirements of a lawful arrest;" "using the stop and frisk power;" "scope of the search—what may be lawfully seized;" "advising the arrested person;" "bringing the defendant into court;" "handling the juvenile offender;" "witness I.D. — lineups and other visual and voice I.D." and "the implied consent law."

Within these and other categories covered in the handbook, specific examples are given in order to clarify the stated laws and procedures.

New material covering such topics as crowd control and civil disorders will be added.

The handbook took the Criminal Div. 6 months to prepare, according to Krantz, with the guidance and support of among others, the Exec. Comm. of the Mass. Chiefs of Police Assoc.; the Exec. Comm. of the Mass Police Assoc.; and the members of the Att'y Gen's Advisory Comm. on Civil Rights and Civil Liberties.

Conti Report from Washington

The House Ways and Means Comm. this week launched what I'm sure will be a long and controversial series of hearings on the entire question of tax reform. Though we of Mass may feel we've cornered the market on problems connected with taxes let me assure you the headache is federal as well as state and local.

A complete investigation of our entire tax structure, aimed at reform, is something I have long advocated. I can only hope the W & M Comm. does a thoro job in this difficult undertaking.

The 1st area the Comm. zeroes in on was the quest. of tax-exempt foundations, of which there are some 30,000 in the U.S. There has been a growing controversy surrounding the activities of these foundations. In recent years, with charges that some are profiteering, jumping into stock purchases with both feet, and hoarding their funds rather than spending them for philanthropic purposes.

As ranking minority member of the House Small Business Comm's Subcommittee on foundations, I was one of the 1st to testify this week at the hearings. In that testimony I urged corrective legis. to deal with the significant abuses which have developed within the structure of tax-free foundations. However, I made it clear in my testimony, and I want to make it clear now, that there is a danger of throwing out the baby with the bath water in this case. In our zeal for reform, we must not overlook the beneficial aspects of these foundations.

But sadly, there have been abuses of the tax-free status the gov. has granted for their good work. You may be surprised to know that there is today, no effective system to oversee these institutions.

Among the present flaws in the set up, which I stressed in my testimony, is the absence of any fed. ban against self-dealing by which a person in the foundation can bring direct benefit to himself; and the practice of some foundations to hoard their money rather than putting it to the use for which they were granted the exemp. in the first place.

To combat hoarding of these tax-free funds, I support a proposal that all private non-operating foundations be required to distribute all their current net income within a specified period.

I also told the comm. that business involvement should be limited to 20% direct or indirect ownership of any business unrelated to its tax-exempt purposes. This is needed to protect against unfair competition, particularly in behalf of the small businessman.

This entire area of tax-exempt foundations is a vital one and a good starting point for tax reform. But it is only a beginning. In the coming weeks and months, the whole spectrum of tax measures will be examined, including, I hope, such items as the OIL DEPLETION ALLOWANCE which is nothing but a giveaway. The long range result of this invest should be some strong leg, to plug the many loopholes in our tax structure which drain the resources of the low and middle income wage earners.

At the start of the 91st Congress, I was renamed to the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission, as 1 of 2 members from the House of Rep. on the board. This will be my third term on the Commission, which meets periodically to review the government's wildlife refuge program and to approve transactions regarding establishment and maintenance of migratory bird refuges.

I am very proud of the active efforts of our gov't to preserve migratory birds such as swans, wild ducks, geese, and coots, from becoming extinct. As of July 1, 1968 there were 321 units in the National Refuge System, comprising about 28.6 million acres. There are refuges in 46 of the 50 states, including the Parker River, Great Meadows, and Monomoy Refuges in Mass. There are also 800,000 acres of waterfowl production areas, which are potholeslough type wetlands of high value to nesting ducks in the prairie states.

But the work of the Mig. Bird Comm., and the Dep't of the Interior's Bur. of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, is far from complete. During the past 2 years, for example 8 new refuges were added to the system and other areas are under consideration for inclusion in the refuge program.

TODAY'S AGRI-FACT: Why do apples contribute so much to dental health? First, the flesh of the apple is unique in its juicy, crisp consistency, and therefore especially effective in cleansing the teeth and massaging the gums. Then, the detergent action of the apple flesh in chilling removes surface bacteria from even the hard-to-reach places between the teeth. So an apple should really be the last food eaten in a meal because it is both a delicious dessert and a highly effective teeth and mouth cleanser.

PRIZED CUTTING

Flowers of dwarf and tall scabiosas look exactly the same — both are fully double.

The long, wiry stems of scabiosa and the excellent keeping qualities make them especially good for cut flowers.

Easy to grow, scabiosa seeds even tolerate winter cold if they are sown in fall.

But early spring planting will do as well. Choose a sunny spot in fair soil. That will suit them nicely.

I'd love to go home with you. I'm at LY 8-8724

Hang Pictures Save Wallpaper!

When hanging pictures on a papered wall, there's no need to ruin the wallpaper, suggests the Picture and Frame Institute. Cut two sides of a small triangular shape into the paper before pounding in the nail. Fold the paper back flat and drive the nail directly into the wall. If the picture is moved, the paper can be simply repasted and pressed back into place.

A Smoothee

Try filling your favorite cake with a creamy smooth filling. This basic filling can be perked up with candied cherries, pineapple, nuts or dried fruit.

Creamy Cake Filling

3 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 tablespoons corn starch
1 cup milk
1/4 cup heavy cream

Mix sugar and corn starch in top of double boiler. Gradually add milk, mixing until smooth. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Add vanilla; cool. Beat with rotary beater until creamy smooth. Fold 1/4 cup heavy cream, whipped, into chilled and beaten filling. Fill cake and frost.

EYECATCHER

Dianthus Bravo has gay, scarlet-red flowers, produced freely on 8-inch-high plants.

Even a single plant of Dianthus Bravo is an eyecatcher, especially when it's planted in a suitable setting, for instance alongside a grayish rock.

The color is blazing scarlet red and it draws the eye from afar.

When you consider that Bravo grows only eight inches tall, this is remarkable.

Bravo's single blooms are fragrant and each petal is fringed. The little, upright-growing, compact plants look solid scarlet-red because the flowers are borne above the leaves.

This little pink has several uses — the single plant landscape described above or massed in beds or even window boxes.

It also is pretty as an edging, if only it is by itself or next to other plants blooming in compatible colors.
